

The Gift of You!

By doing what you love to do, doing it well, and taking joy in it, you can make a positive difference in the world!

This I believe is the great Western truth: that each of us is a completely unique creature that, if we are ever to give any gift to the world, it will have to come out of our own experience and fulfillment of our own potentialities, not someone else's.

Unwrapping my Gifts

If I had no responsibilities, I'd spend my spare time...

If I could be something other than a person I would like to be...

Compliments I have received

Some of the gifts I have to share are...
